Problem Statement

Most language learning apps struggle to keep users motivated because they aren't designed to be enjoyable or engaging.

Explanation

Language learning apps just use the same boring exercises which makes it hard for people to stay interested. When learning is boring, people lose motivation and stop practicing. To fix this, apps should include things like games, fun lessons, fun challenges and rewards to make sure people enjoy learning and keep learning.